

A Day for Dads by Kim Hendry of Peekaboo Design Group

A baby shower with golf, cigars and cognac? That's right. No petit fours allowed! It's not opposite day; it's Daddy's Dudes Day, the new trend for expecting Dads.

From catered events at the hottest golf spots in Dallas to manly-man talk in a smoke filled cigar bar, more women are planning special days to help their men celebrate baby.

For generations, our focus has been on pampering and caring for Mom, as it should be, but it's also important not to forget Dad.

One of our favorite Days for Dad is one that includes a stretch hummer chauffeuring the guys to an old-school shave shop for hot shaves and neck massages. Afterwards, the group is taken to their own private screening where they can partake in "man food and drink"; play a little pool; and kick back in plush arm chairs enjoying the big game or maybe a mob movie marathon. Now, that's how a Daddy's Dudes Day is done!

Peekaboo Design Group assists all parents in planning for baby and nursery. Their specialty is helping parents keep baby boy or girl a surprise and still get the nursery of their dreams. www.peakaboodesign.com

Contact the Author